Visual Communication Solutions for the Financial Services Industry

Financial services institutions have to make fast decisions and respond rapidly to changes in market conditions. Everyday employees across the country meet and discuss time-critical investment opportunities, client relationship issues and product/service campaigns

The complexity required to stay competitive continues to increase on a daily basis and decisions increasingly have greater consequences. To be successful, organisations have realised how important it is to have access to the right people and the right information on an instantaneous basis. The ability to respond quickly and accurately is often the difference between success and failure.

With more outside pressures for transparency and compliance, IT spending, project prioritisation, and internal and external communications become critical.

MVISION – YOUR DEDICATED VIDEO CONFERENCING DEPARTMENT

Everything about mvision - from the technology itself to its costing structure - is designed to deliver an entirely new kind of video conferencing experience.

The mvision managed solution runs completely independently of your main IT network using separate bandwidth and connectivity, thereby eliminating any technical issues that are commonplace with video conferencing.

With absolutely no up-front costs, mvision fees are charged on a per-month subscription basis, bringing the benefits of world-class visual communications within the reach of even the smallest organisations.
